

Rules of the game

Quest is a game with a plot and characters. You are offered roles and missions to complete. To receive the final task, you must pass a test: answer questions at certain points on the route - quest stations. An electronic guide will lead you through a real urban environment it will tell you city stories, legends, and stories. The intrigue is that you won't know where the game is taking you. The next quest station opens only after the correct answer to the questions. And so from station to station you will move forward. There is no going back!

You will have an offline map at your disposal. It contains the route traveled, your location and the next quest station. The number of stations in the quest excursion is more than twenty. The mobile phone GPS-navigator is only needed to start the game.

For each question, you will be offered options for answers, one of which is correct. In case of difficulty, you can use the tips. For the correct answer the first time and without prompting, you will be awarded points.

An Internet connection is not required to complete the quest tour. After downloading the application and the quest to your Smartphone, you can play offline. You have the right to google, use the navigator and any other resources. But this is not necessary to complete the quest.

The number of players in the quest is not limited. Play alone or gather a team of friends - your choice.
